

Yanchun Shao

Yanchun Shao is a professor in the College of Food Science and Technology at Huazhong Agricultural University in China, and guest professor at Wuhan Polytechnic University in China. She received her Ph.D degree in Food Science in 2007. From Nov of 2014 to March of 2016, she was sponsored as a visiting scholar to the Institute of Molecular Biology at the University of Oregon by China Scholarship Council. Her research interest is focused on the synthetic pathway and its modulation of secondary metabolites in filamentous fungi associated with fermented foods at the genetic level. She has published over 30 research papers related to the keyword “Monascus ruber”.